Deadlines: Assignments will often be discussed in class on the day before they are due, and many of the assignments will build off of previous ones. Therefore, assignments must be handed in on the due date. Assignments will be accepted in hard-copy form only.

Class Participation: This component includes coming to class, discussing during class, and providing feedback to peers.

Exams: The exam on September 29th will be essay and short answer. The material for the exam will be from lectures, class discussions, and the Research Design in Counseling text.

Exercises: The exercises break down the components of the replication paper project. Assignments will be made available on WebCT. We will also be working on the exercises during class.

Replication Project: The experiment is a cognitive study that we will administer during class time. The students will serve as the participants in the class and then we will use the data from the class for your results. We will be working on the components of the paper using the Effective Writing in Psychology text. The replication project rough draft will be due October 27th and you will receive 15 points. The final paper is due on Nov. 1st. NO LATE PAPERS WILL BE ACCEPTED. THE PAPERS WILL BE DUE BY class time.

Research Proposal: The research proposal will be based on an original idea you have. It will include an introduction, methods, and references. The research proposal should be no more than 10 pages of text. A rough draft of your paper is required November 15th during class time. Rough drafts turned in on time will receive 15 points. The final research proposal is due the Monday of finals week Dec. 13 by 5 p.m. NO LATE PAPERS WILL BE ACCEPTED.

Class Presentation: Near the end of the semester you will present your proposal to the class allowing some time for oral discussion and feedback of your proposal.
