Class Description
This course is about group dynamics within and between groups. I will teach the course from an interdisciplinary, social psychological perspective. I will assume that students already have a background in social psychology, since either Psych 280 or Soc 305 are prerequisites for this course. The course will consist of lectures, reading assignments, quizzes, exams, and an optional extra credit opportunity. There will be no term papers. Participation in class will be encouraged, but not graded.

Textbooks and Reading Assignments
Readings will come from one required textbook, plus a number of articles on e-Reserve. The textbook is:

Blackboard Quizzes
There will be 17 Blackboard quizzes (one for each chapter of the textbook). See Blackboard for availability and due dates. These quizzes are “take-home” and “open book.” No make-up quizzes will be allowed. In total, these quizzes will be worth 30 points, approximately 20% of your final course grade.

Exams
There will be 4 exams, worth 30 points each. These exams are “closed book” exams, and they will take place in the proctored LAS On Line Testing Center, room 60 Carver Hall. Each exam will consist of multiple choice, true/false, short answer, or essay questions. If a student misses an exam, he/she will be allowed to take a comprehensive make-up essay exam during finals week. No other make-up exams will be offered.

Grading
The final class grade will be based on the sum of the 17 quizzes and 4 exams. Grading will be follow a standard grading scale, 100-90% for A range, 89-80% for B range, etc. See the homepage for a more detailed grading scale.

Extra Credit
Students may earn 10 extra credit points by finding a relevant journal article and presenting this information to the class. See a detailed description of this extra credit opportunity on Blackboard. Also, extra credit points may occasionally be given for attendance.

Sociology Code of Ethics for Human Relations: The Department of Sociology is committed to providing a professional and educational environment that is free of discrimination and harassment. The department's code of Ethics for Human Relations and the Procedures for Filing Complaints of Discrimination or Harassment are posted on the bulletin boards on all five floors of East Hall.

Disability Policy: If you have a documented disability that requires assistance, you will need to go to the Disability Resource (DR) Office for coordination of your academic accommodations. The DR is located in the Student Services Building, Room 1076. Their phone number is 515-294-6624, TDD 515-294-6335 or email Bea at Awoniyib@iastate.edu.

Academic Misconduct: Academic misconduct in any form is a violation of Iowa State University Student Disciplinary Regulations and will not be tolerated. This includes, but is not limited to: copying or sharing answers on tests or assignments, plagiarism, and having someone else do your academic work. Depending on the act, a student could receive an F grade on the test/assignment, F grade for the course, and could be suspended or expelled from the University. See the Conduct Code at www.dso.iastate.edu for more details and a full explanation of the Academic Misconduct policies.

Classroom Disruption: Should any student disrupt the instructor's ability to ensure a safe environment, control the class agenda, and/or deliver the approved curriculum, the instructor has the right to ask that the disruptive action cease immediately. The responsible student should cease the disruption and utilize non-disruptive means for expressing disagreement or concern.
