Spending a semester in Shanghai, China was my most memorable college experience. It was awesome to get firsthand perspective on a different culture, and I met some truly amazing people while I was abroad. And the Great Wall was pretty cool!

What is your most memorable college experience?

My favorite psychology class was Dr. Krizan’s Personality Psychology class (Psych 360) because it made me appreciate how much potential there is in the world of psychology research. I was used to reading textbooks and hearing lectures about significant psychologists who’d been long dead, so when I realized one of the famous researchers we were learning about was alive and, well, not even retired, it was a big deal to me.

What has been your favorite Psych class?

I think the best thing about going to ISU, especially for a psych student, is having a lot of opportunities. There are so many interesting classes, clubs, research positions, and chances to intern and study abroad in cool places. I love that ISU students have a lot of freedom to pursue novel experiences. I also love the supportive academic environment and the fact that Ames is a really friendly town.
